AFLRP Assistance In Moving to Aussie Games
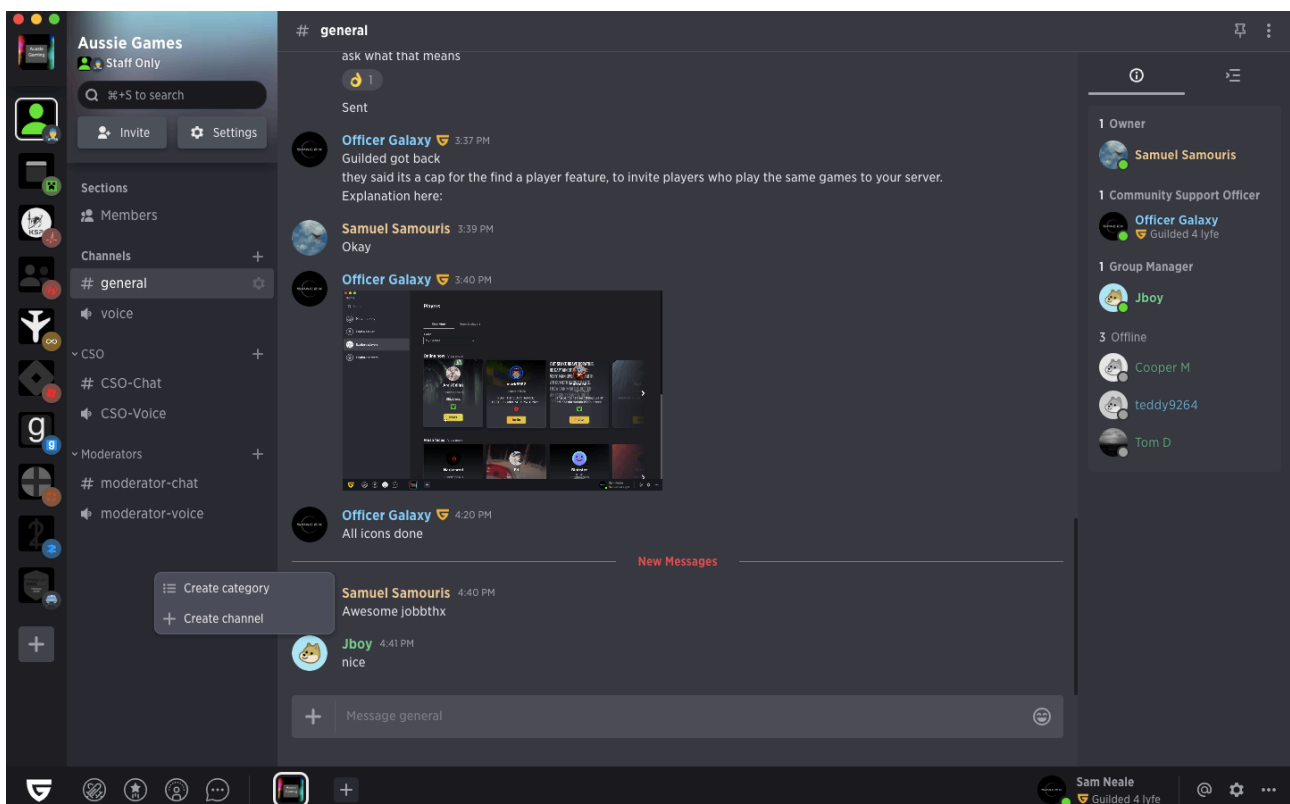

What we would like assistance with:

The AFLRP Project New Home team are requesting assistance with making and structuring groups, groups are defined as the different sub-servers of the Aussie Games Team. We would like these new Group Managers to create their respective communities.
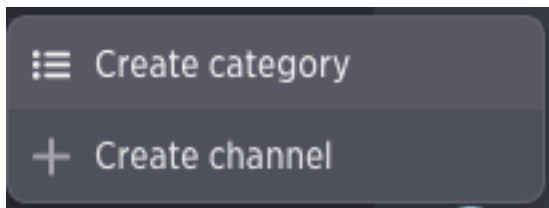

How to make a community:

Project New Home, has many communities. These communities have been made but don't have any content. It is your job to fill them with content.

To make a new category do the following steps:

1. Right Click some empty space in the the list

2. Click create category

3. Enter a Name in the Prompt

4. DONE

To create a new channel in a category,

1. Click the plus next to a category name, in this case 444.

2. It will then show a button create channel.
3. Once you click the button a prompt will appear.

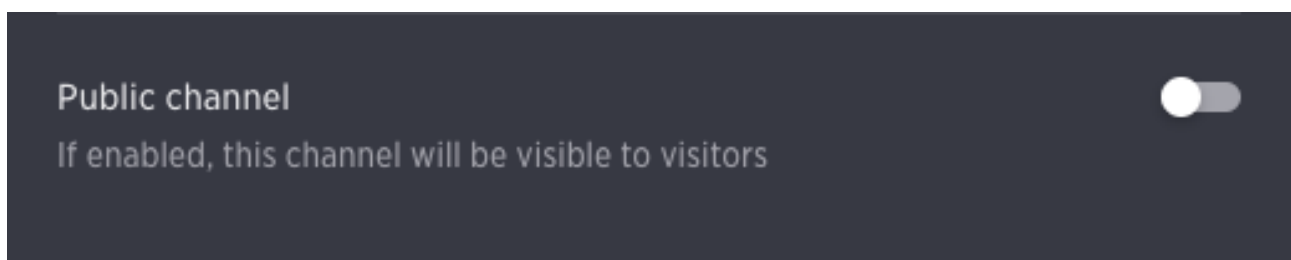

4. Enter a channel name, and then select a channel type. Channels can be one of 9 things.

a.Text channel (just like a normal text channel in discord)

b.Announcements Channel, a channel that is linked to the Aussie Games

Announcements Feed.

c. Calendar Channel, for events like community games, or in a FL case a Patrol that is pre-scheduled.

d. Forums, serves a similar purpose to a Text Channel but is a little more organised and follows a post type chat. This means it is not useful for quick chatting.

e. Documents, here you can upload various documents like guides, or procedures.

f. Media, here you can upload various photos or videos like funny screenshots or general photos.

g. Voice Channel, very similar to discord voice channels, with a few differences. The voice chat will have 1 channel called lobby, you can not change this name. However you can make sub voice channels. This is useful for radios, where you would like to have scene radio. This also allows someone like a dispatcher to speak to both the current lobby channel and the channels below.

h. List, useful for making lists.

i. Schedules, allows your members to show when they can be active.

5. Make sure to have the Public Channel toggle set to off.

6. Then click create.

7. DONE

Roles

Unfortunately roles in your community cross into the entire server. As such unless you think that a role should go across the server. Please manage roles by making a list. Or document, with each role, and then who is assigned.

Questions

If you have any more questions please reach out to the CSO team, who will get back to you ASAP.
